Easter Services.

The services held at the Methodist church last Sunday forenoon were of unusual interest. Mrs. C. M. Russell was the organist and Mrs. R. V. Bennett and Miss Frances Russell were the violinists. Their music was inspiring and most skillfully rendered and highly appreciated by a large audience. The sermon delivered by Rev. Bennett was splendid, and also the solo rendered by Mrs. Ray Montgomery.

In the afternoon Eld. W. G. Montgomery, of Campbellsville, appeared at the Christian church and addressed the Woman's Missionary Society, which had been opened by Scripture reading and prayer by the President, Mrs. R. F. Rowe.

Eld. Montgomery's Easter discourse came at night, and he was greeted by a large audience. He is an entertaining speaker, and his effort upon this occasion was highly edifying.

The many friends of Mr. Clay Suddarth, who has been confined to his room for several years, is showing signs of marked improvement. He is eating heartily and his brother, Mr. James Suddarth, and his nephew, Sam Suddarth, say there is not a doubt but his condition is better, and Sam says he believes he will regain his health. He is afflicted with rheumatism.

Mr. V. Sullivan and family who have been living in Campbellsville for the last eighteen months, have returned to Columbia to reside. They are occupying the residence, near Water Street, known as the Chilson property. They are natives and we welcome them on their return.

Mr. Olin Rosenbaum met with a very serious accident last Wednesday morning. He was out in a field and was cutting bushes, and filling up gullies. His ax struck a dead limb and it broke, one end striking him on the face near the right eye. It cut a very deep gash and was very painful.

Big, little, old and young will be in Columbia next Thursday.

Silver Wedding Celebrated.

Last Friday, the 18th, the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hutchison was celebrated at their home, three miles from Columbia. All their near relatives and many friends were invited, and the day was most delightfully spent. At the noon hour a magnificent dinner, consisting of every thing palatable was sat before the guests, the tables being artistically decorated. There were a number of courses, and as the changes were made reminiscences of by gone days were indulged in. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison, who are held in high esteem by relatives and friends, received a number of handsome and useful presents.

It was also the twenty-first birthday of their daughter, Miss Stora, who wore happy smiles during the day, and who also received many nice presents.

Accidentally Killed.

A dispatch was received here last Saturday, from Rasewell, N. M. stating that Mr. B. T. Neat, (Beriah) had been shot accidentally and killed in that city. Particulars were not given. The deceased was born and reared in Adair county, and was the oldest son of Hon. W. F. Neat. He left this county about fifteen years ago, and he was doing well in New Mexico.

He had many friends in his native county, and all of whom will be sorry to read of his untimely death.

Died Suddenly.

Mr. J. T. Reynolds, who lived a few miles East of Columbia, died suddenly last Sunday afternoon, a victim of apoplexy. He was a brother of Jim Frank, Robert and Green Reynolds and Mrs. J. A. Willis, of this place. He was a good citizen and a very quiet man, one who had many friends. He was 56 years old and had never married. The interment was on the old home place Monday afternoon, many relatives and friends being present.

Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hendrickson, of Lebanon Junction, announce their daughter, Miss Lucy, was married on Wednesday, the 16th of April, 1919, to Mr. John William Strange. The ceremony took place at the First Christian Church, Louisville. The bride is a niece of Mr. Geo. E. Wilson, of this place, and her parents formerly resided at Cane Valley, this county.

Mr. J. C. Strange, Chairman of the Publicity Committee, has received from the Government, six fancy helmets, as samples of the 30,000 that were prepared by the German authorities, to be worn by their soldiers while passing through the streets of Paris. The fighting French and the American soldiers stopped them, put them on the run, following and fighting until the armistice was signed.

The Liberty Loan Drive is on and Thursday of this week thousand of people will be at the Fair Grounds to see the airplane arrive and take its departure for Jamestown. It will be a wonderful sight to the people of this section. Do not fail to be at the Fair Ground.

Mr. Curt Yarberry, who bought the Elzy Young farm, near town, informs the News that he will put in seventy-five acres in corn, ten acres in tobacco and a number of acres of oats and grass. It is one of the best corn farms in the county.

Rev. E. H. Blakeman Called.

Committees from Zion, Milltown and Columbia Baptist Churches met in the Baptist church, this place, last Wednesday night, and made a unanimous call for Rev. E. H. Blakeman, of Bloomfield, to the pastorate of said Churches. Rev. Blakeman has been here and preached several times, and he is very much liked. He is a strong, forceful speaker and is said to be a good worker.

It will require several weeks for him to get ready to remove his family, hence his first sermon on the call in this place will be the first Sunday in June.

Close to the Century Mark.

Mr. Riley Terry, who was perhaps the oldest person in Russell county, died one day last week. He was 92 years old, and his remains were interred in the Jamestown cemetery. He cast his first vote for a President for James K. Polk. In relating incidents that occurred eighty years ago, he was interesting, and generally had a good audience.

Go to Sunday-School.

The first Sunday in May will be "Go to Sunday school Day," and every body, old and young, are requested to attend their respective schools. The Secretary of each school is requested to send the number in attendance to this office early Monday morning following.

To our correspondents: Our columns have been crowded with advertisements for the last month, and for that reason we have been unable to publish some letters that we have received. We want short letters from all sections of the county, and from now on we think we will be able to furnish the space. Write on one side of your paper, and let each item be a paragraph, that is when you finish an item, drop a line and start the next one.

Mr. Virgil Hurt, who lives at Ozark, one of Adair's best farmers, contracted the flu the 14th of February, and not yet entirely recovered, though he is able to be out. He was in town last Wednesday and stated that he had only done one days work since he got up.

Mr. J. U. Curtis, of Burkesville, who we reported last week, as having been robbed of ten thousand dollars in Memphis, is known here, and he is said to be one of the most prominent men in Cumberland county. He is President of the Burkesville Loose Leaf House.

This County's Quota in Victory Liberty Loan.

The quota of Adair County for the Victory Liberty Loan has been fixed at $98,450.

The amount of the Victory Liberty Loan is limited to $4,500,000,000, according to the official statement of Secretary of the Treasury Glass.

Victory Liberty Notes will bear a four and three quarters per cent interest. The notes will mature in four years, but the Government retains the option to retire them in three years.

The notes are free from normal tax. They are interchangeable any time before maturity for three and three-quarters per cent non taxable notes.

There will be no oversubscription. The Treasury will allot all subscriptions up to $10,000 and over first. The notes will bear the date of May 20. The first interest date is December 15 and semi-annually thereafter.

Financiers characterize the terms as excellent for the investor, and the prediction is made that the quota for the Eighth District will be subscribed quickly. The campaign opens April 21 and closes May 10.

Unintentionally Overlooked.

On the second day of April the returned Adair county soldiers were given a dinner at the Graded School Gym which was a magnificent affair. There were number of patriotic speeches and a general good time for all in attendance. The Editor of The News was not present and the article which appeared in the paper, giving an account of the day, was contributed. In speaking of the drilling of the soldiers the name of Lieutenant Richard Franklin, Gradyville, was unintentionally omitted. We want to do this returned officer justice by stating that in the drilling of the soldiers upon the square and to and from the Gym, he was the principal commander and he knows military tactics to perfection. He went across, was wounded, and for his gallantry Adair county is proud.

Will pay cash or goods for country Bacon.

See The Airplane.

Route of the airplane is as follows: Leaves Camp Knox early Thursday morning and will arrive here in a few minutes after the start. Arriving here it will make some demonstrations over the Fair Grounds, then go to Jamestown, from Jamestown it goes to Liberty and then returns to this place. It will take but a short time to make the round trip. If you want to see it come to Columbia next Thursday, the 24th.

NOTES ON ADAIR COUNTY.

BY JOHN AVROE STEELE.

No. 12.

HOW PELHAM RECEIVED ITS NAME.

Previous to the organization of Adair county, and when there did not exist any courts before whom offenders could be haled, except such as sat so far away, that they were not available, our grandfathers, at times, dealt out justice in a very summary way to the offenders and to others, whom they believed to be desirous of becoming offenders. At times, the unceremonious men of the forests applied the lash of justice literally and actually as well as figuratively to characters, who fell under their suspicions, and could not exculpate themselves satisfactorily. They had no jails in which to confine offenders and no means of collecting fines and judgments, and if a suspicious character came into their midst, they would, often times, apply the doctrine of locking the stable door before the horse was stolen. The enforcement of such a doctrine is involved in the history of the Pelhams.

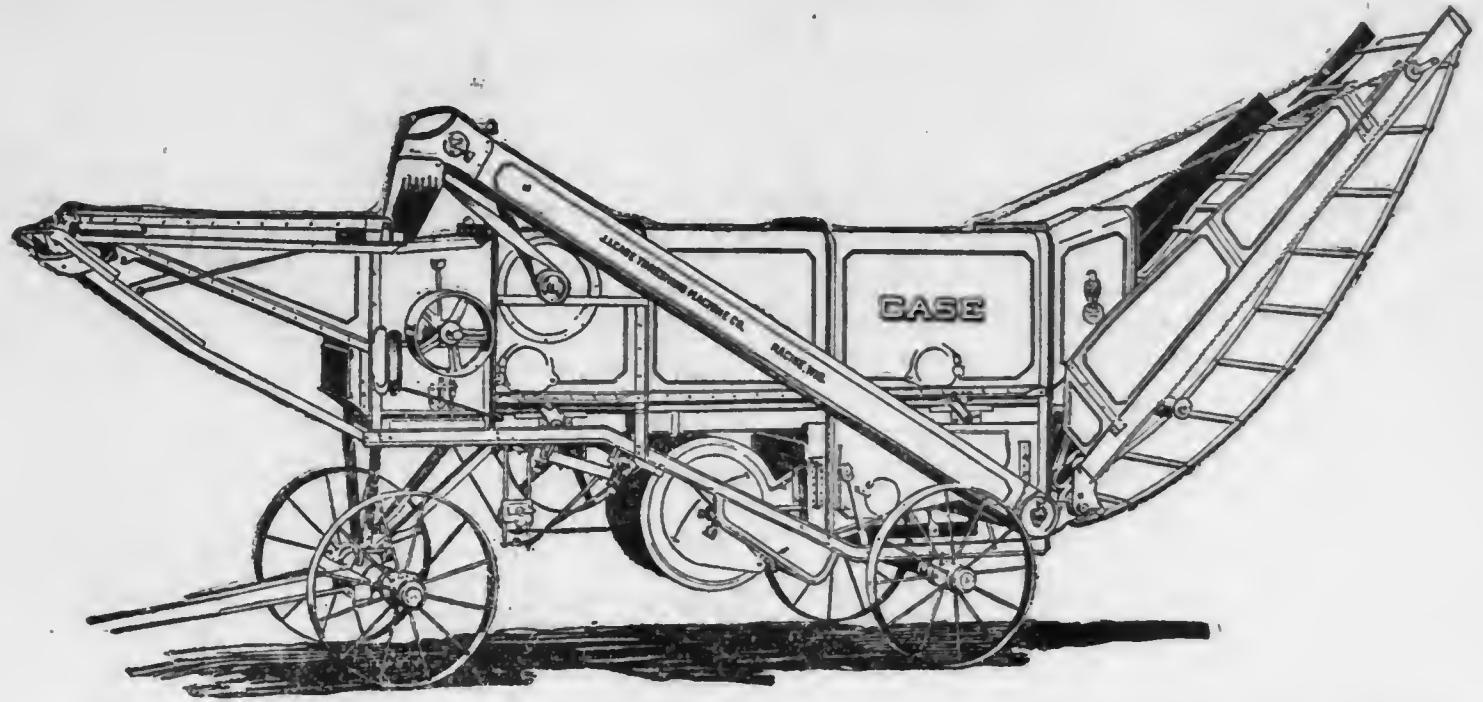

About 1799 or 1800, three men, two of whom were of the name of Pelham, and the name of the other is now forgotten, built a cabin upon the banks of Pelham, and took up their residence in it. They gave no satisfactory account of where they came from nor the cause of their coming, and did not deport themselves in a manner to create confidence. A suspicion grew, that they were murderers or thieves, and if not molested, would soon be plying their trade again. The scattered citizens of that day held an informal meeting, at which the Pelhams were taken into consideration. Col. Wm. Casey, Major Nathan Montgomery and Capt. John Butler, as the natural leaders of the people, were deputed to call upon the Pelham and to require them to state their business and intentions in the country, and to give an account of their lives and history, so that it might be known what other steps, if any, were necessary to be taken in regard to them, so as to safeguard society and property. Information as to these steps reached the ears of the Pelhams, and they contemplated, should be made to their cabin, that they would shoot Casey and unmercifully beat Montgomery and Butler. The reason assigned by the Pelhams for meeting out a different punishment to their expected visitors, was, that Casey was a very large man and physically powerful, while Butler and Montgomery were of a size, which they could easily handle and denominated them, the two "black rascals," because of their very dark complexions. The Pelhams, however, did not fully appreciate the men with whom they were proposing to reckon. In a short time, Casey and Montgomery came together, and went to the residence of Butler to procure his assistance in dealing with the Pelhams. Butler was absent from his home and his assistance could not be had, but two half grown boys of the Butler family accompanied Casey and Montgomery to the dwelling of the Pelhams. These youths were relatives of Capt. John Butler, but their Christian names are, now, forgotten. When the party arrived at the house of the Pelhams, true to their threatenings, one of them attempted to shoot Casey. Casey, however, was too quick for him and seized and disarmed him, and taking him out of the house, threw him upon the ground, sat astride his body, and calmly awaited developments. Montgomery, in accordance with the custom of that day, wore his hair plaited in a long cue, which hung down his back. As soon as he entered the house, one of the men, instantly, sprang forward, seized the cue, wound it around his arm, and with his free hand, commenced a terrific battery upon Montgomery's head and face. Montgomery, who was thus taken at a great disadvantage, was, for the time being, rendered nearly helpless to defend or to extricate himself from the dilemma. The Butler boys became alarmed at the turn of affairs, drew their knives and made ready to stand their ground and to give assistance in a desperate way. Casey, however, knew Montgomery's capabilities, and did not become excited nor move from his position astride the prostrate Pelham, and directed the young Butlers not to interfere nor attempt to give any assistance to Montgomery, and assured them, that all would yet be well. The struggle between Montgomery and his adversary went around and around the room, for a time, with Montgomery, gradually breaking the hold upon his cue. Finally, with a great effort, he succeeded in breaking Pelham's hold upon his cue, accompanying the breaking with a terrific blow in Pelham's face which sent him across the room and against the wall in the back of the fire place in the chimney. Before Pelham could recover, Montgomery bestowed one furious kick after another upon Pelham's face, and thus completely put him out of the fighting. The other man attempted to interfere to rescue his companion from the terrific pounding, which Montgomery was bestowing upon him, but the young Butlers, with the courage of their race, warned him not to interfere and facing him with their knives in hand, compelled him to desist. A neighbor, hearing Montgomery's antagonist's cries for help, ran to the house and stopped his further punishment. Concluding, from the conversation and conduct of the Pelhams and from what little of their history which could be gleaned from them, that they were undesirable citizens, the two unharmed ones were tied to a tree and forty lashes administered upon each of their backs. The one, who had tried conclusions with Montgomery, was considered to have been sufficiently chastised and further punishment was not administered to him. They were warned that their removal from the county would be acceptable, and they removed without further parley and were heard of no more. PAINT AS AN ASSET.

Bankers Say They Lend More Money on Property When Buildings Are Well Painted.

AN INDICATION OF THRIFT.

One Concern Advances 25 Per Cent. More if Repainting Is Done Every Five Years.

Does it pay to paint carefully farm buildings? Does it add to the selling value of a farm when buildings are properly kept up and regularly painted? A careful inquiry of a number of leading bankers in the Mississippi valley, including such states as Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Missouri, reveals the fact that in nearly every case the bankers did not hesitate to say that they would lend all the way from 5 to 50 per cent. more on land where farm buildings were well painted and kept in good condition. They maintain that well kept-up and well painted buildings and fences are an indication of thrift and that the thrifty farmer is a good client, and to him money can be safely loaned. An average of the returns from these bankers shows that the increased loan value because of painted buildings is around 22 per cent.

Some of these bankers make interesting comment. A Michigan concern says that, while not especially prepared to advise definitely in response to this inquiry, the officers would loan more money on farms where buildings were painted than where they were not so treated. This bank also finds that where houses, barns and fences are well taken care of the farm is a profitable proposition, and bankers in general consider the farmer a good client. Another Michigan bank says "farm buildings out of repair and needing paint indicate that the owner is slow pay." Such farms are rated at about one-third of the assessed value for loans. Where the farm buildings are in good shape the rating is one-half. The president of a middle western bank says that when real estate loans are considered, painted buildings are always taken into consideration in making an estimate. The general appearance of the property surrounding the house and barn and also the fields and fences would be carefully observed. He further says that he has no hesitancy in saying that he would absolutely refuse a loan on farms where the buildings were not kept up and well painted. In his judgment, unpainted farm buildings would reduce the loan value at least 25 per cent.

A Minnesota banker says that he is much more willing to loan money where the buildings are well painted. In his particular case he believes that he would loan 20 per cent. more than if the buildings were not properly taken care of. A farmer who will keep his buildings painted takes a much deeper interest in his work than one who does not. Another Minnesota bank says that well painted buildings have resulted in securing from his bank sometimes as high as 25 per cent. more money than where the buildings are not painted. An Ohio concern says that it will loan 25 per cent. more money on a well kept farm where buildings are painted at least once every five years. A southern Illinois bank says that it has no fixed rule about this, but it does make a decided difference when owners of farm lands apply for loans. If the buildings are well painted and thus well preserved the loan rate would not only be cheaper, but the amount of money borrowed would be larger. A northern Illinois bank does not hesitate to say that it would loan fully 50 per cent. more on a farm where buildings were well painted and in good order than where they were not. The vice president, who answers the inquiry, goes on to say: "There probably are many farmers good financially and morally who do not paint their buildings to remain painted but as a rule the most substantial people who live in the country keep their buildings well painted."

An Iowa bank, through its vice president, states that it would make a difference of at least 20 per cent. in favor of the farm with painted buildings. Another Iowa concern says that it would make a difference of at least 20 per cent.

All this being true, it is perfectly evident that it is a good business proposition to keep the farm buildings well painted. They not only look better and are more pleasing to the owner, but the farm would sell to better advantage, the loan value of the property would be greatly increased and the buildings themselves would last much longer and need less repair.—The American Agriculturist.

PAINT AND ILLITERACY.

Curious Fact Comes to Light That Literates Least Using Books Avoid Paint Also.

Washington, D. C.—A curious fact has been brought to light by the Educational Bureau and the Bureau of Industrial Research here. It is that in the states where illiteracy is most prevalent paint is least used. The paint referred to is the common or barn variety, of course, for the backwoods countries have no need for the finer pigments or facial adornments. It is true, though, that in the sections of all states where white illiteracy is highest painted homes are rare and painted outbuildings and barns are practically unknown. Probably the illiterates do not use paint on their buildings because they do not understand its value as a preservative.

Here's warning! The price of stock in the Louisville Mansfield Lead & Zinc Company will advance next Saturday, April 19. This is final notice—take heed!

Remember—(1st), that this company owns the leases on four tracts (of 40 acres each) at Mansfield, Missouri, right where the mother lode in the great Ozark lead and zinc district is nearest the surface, (2d), that this company has proven its holdings by drilling and is already sinking the first shaft for its first mill, and (3d), that the officers and directors of the Louisville Mansfield Lead & Zinc Co. are chiefly the same gentlemen as those of the Kentucky Mansfield Lead & Zinc Syndicate, which company, already in operation, paid a monthly dividend of 2% in January, 3% in February and 3% in March. One thing's sure—there is wealth in lead and zinc. Make the most of this opportunity!

ANNOUNCEMENT.

FOR STATE SENATOR.

We are authorized to announce Mr. Jas. R. Garnett a Democratic candidate for the State Senate in the District composed of the counties of Adair, Barren and Metcalfe. His candidacy is subject to the action of the voters at the August primary.

FOR STATE SENATOR.

We are authorized to announce C. Haskell Miller, of Metcalfe county, a Democratic candidate for the State Senate, in the district made up of the counties of Adair, Barren and Metcalfe, subject to the action of the voters at the August primary.

Mr. Leslie Larimore, of Green county, is a popular Republican candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Senator Hitchcock, a Republican, who at the start, opposed the Peace League, is now heartily for it.

It was said in some quarters that President Wilson would fail in his peace league efforts. Does it look like it now?

The interest for a Congressman to succeed the late Harvey Helm, is on the wane. The candidates do not seem to be busy.

In to-day's News Mr. C. Haskell Miller, of Metcalfe county, announces his candidacy for the State Senate in the counties of Adair, Barren and Metcalfe, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

It looks now like that by the beginning of summer peace will reign throughout the world among all civilized peoples. The cut throats in Germany and Russia will probably keep up their cruelties among themselves.

Congressman Longworth continues his violent asseverations that the Republican organization of the next House of Representatives is unrepresentative and reactionary. Republicans know that Democrats already have the information. It is not news to the "Progressives." Whom is Mr. Longworth trying to enlighten?

Republican leaders who sought to make a partisan issue of the league of nations have at least succeeded in making a fissure in their own party. Republican newspapers with 1,911,256 subscribers are outright advocates of President Wilson's program. Republican journals with 1,249,264 subscribers are opposing the league. Scripture could be quoted to show what happens to "a house divided against itself."

"An overwhelming majority of the American people is in favor of the League of Nations." President Wilson read the public mind aright when he made this statement on the eve of his departure for his second official visit to France. His critics would have it appear that he did not correctly interpret the attitude of the American public, but the people are letting it be known that an "overwhelming majority" favors the League of Nations and are standing squarely behind him in his effort to bring lasting peace to a blood-stained and war-weary world.

The candidates for Governor will evidently begin the canvass of the State at an early day. The general opinion is that the fellows who are out for jobs did their best to exact promises from Mr. Cherry, but he did not tumble, and because he was a man, the job hunters withdrew their support from him. While this paper has not espoused the cause of any candidate, we admire Mr. Cherry's pluck. Rather than to be annoyed by a lot of suckers he withdrew from the contest. He is big enough to receive honors through other channels.

FOOD FAMINE NOW FEARED SHE SAYS

Husband Worried Over Her Appetite Since Using Trutona, Woman Avers.

Owensboro, Ky., April 21, "My husband says he's afraid I'll eat him out of house and home, since taking Trutona," Mrs. Lucy Lounishouser well-known Owensboro woman of 709 West Main street said recently.

"I had the 'flu' last October," she continued. "It seemed that a chronic cold had settled in my side. At times, I ached all over. I would often have to cry out with pain. I didn't sleep well and always felt badly of mornings. My appetite was poor and I had become so weak I couldn't raise my arm above my head. My nerves were in terrible shape.

"One bottle of Trutona has actually straightened me up. The terrible body pains have disappeared now and my nerves are steady again. I can extend my arms at full length and my hands still remain steady as a child's and that's remarkable. I'm eating heartily and I'm gaining strength, too. I'm truly grateful for the relief Trutona gave me."

Trutona, the perfect tonic, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints and the like. It is a fine reconstructive tonic following attacks of pneumonia, influenza, head colds and the like.

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Columbia at Paul Drug Co. Adv.

Committees Meet.

Columbia, Ky., Apr. 20th

Editor News:-

A delegation of Adair County Republicans headed by the Hon. Sam Lewis, Chairman of the Adair County Committee, on Friday last, met with the Taylor Committee at Campbellsville, the object of which was to arrive at an understanding, regarding Republican candidates for Representative in this the 36th, Legislative district, which resulted in a unanimous vote that the counties should alternate in furnishing the candidate. Adair to receive the honor this year. After this agreement was reached, an announcement that T. R. Stults, of Columbia would be a candidate met with generous applause from the Taylor County Committee and all Republicans present. They pledged Mr. Stults their support and assured him of a splendid majority in November, if nominated.

The meeting was the first since Adair and Taylor were placed together and it was a regular love feast, the boys from Adair being royally entertained at luncheon by the Taylor County Committee. It can be safely said that Adair County will roll up that old time Republican majority for Mr. Stults.

A REPUBLICAN.

ANTIQUITY OF DECORATIVE ART

Strange Sources From Which Pigments Used by Modern Painters Are Derived.

PRESERVATION OF SURFACES.

Crude but Effective Processes Employed by the Egyptians and Greeks of Pliny's Day—Noah Prudently Waterproofed the Ark.

Whether paint was invented in answer to a need for a preservative or to meet a desire for beauty is a question fully as knotty as the ancient one about the relative time of arrival of the chicken or the egg. It was invented, though, and it serves both purposes equally; so whether it is an offspring of mother necessity or an adopted son of beauty remains forever a disputed question.

The first men, covering under the fierce and glaring suns of the biblical countries, constructed rude huts of wood to shelter them. The perishable nature of these structures caused rapid decay, and it is probable that the occupants, seeking some artificial means of preservation, hit upon the pigments of the earth in their search. It is perhaps natural to suppose that it was the instinct of preservation that led men to the search, although the glories of the sunsets and the beauties of the rainbow may have created a desire to imitate those wonders in their own dwellings.

The earliest record of the application of a preservative to a wooden structure dates from the ark, which was, according to the Bible, "pitched within and without." The pitch was a triumph of preservation whatever it lacked as a thing of beauty.

Decoration applied to buildings first comes to light with ancient Babylon, whose walls were covered with representations of hunting scenes and of combat. These were done in red and the method followed was to paint the scene on the bricks at the time of manufacture, assuring permanence by baking. Strictly speaking, this was not painting so much as it was the earliest manifestation of our own familiar kalsomining.

The first Hebrew to mention painting is Moses. In the thirty-third chapter of the book of Numbers he instructs the Israelites, "When ye have passed over the Jordan into the land of Canaan, then shall ye drive out all the inhabitants of the land from before you and destroy all their pictures."

At later periods the Jews adopted many customs of the peoples who successively obtained power over them and in the apocryphal book of the Maccabees is found this allusion to the art of decorating, "For as the master builder of a new house must care for the whole building, but he that undertaketh to set it out and paint it, must seek out things for the adorning thereof."

Although Homer gives credit to a Greek for the discovery of paint, the allusions to it in the books of Moses, the painted mummy cases of the Egyptians and the decorated walls of Babylon and Thebes fix its origin at a period long antecedent to the Grecian era. The walls of Thebes were painted 1,900 years before the coming of Christ and 996 years before "Omer smote his bloom'n' lyre."

The Greeks recognized the value of paint as a preservative and made use of something akin to it on their ships. Pliny writes of the mode of boiling wax and painting ships with it, after which, he continues, "neither the sea, nor the wind, nor the sun can destroy the wood thus protected."

The Romans, being essentially a warlike people, never brought the decoration of buildings to the high plane it had reached with the Greeks. For all that the ruins of Pompeii show many structures whose mural decorations are in fair shape today. The colors used were glaring. A black background was the usual one and the combinations worked thereon red, yellow and blue.

In the early Christian era the use of mosaics for churches somewhat supplanted mural painting. Still, during the reign of Justinian the Church of Saint Sophia was built at Constantinople and its walls were adorned with paintings.

In modern times the uses of paint have come to be as numerous as its myriad shades and tints. Paint is unique in that its name has no synonym and for it there is no substitute material. Bread is the staff of life, but paint is the life of the staff.

No one thinks of the exterior of a wooden building now except in terms of paint coated. Interiors, too, from painted walls and stained furniture down to the lowliest kitchen utensil, all receive their protective covering. Steel, so often associated with cement re-enforcing, is painted before it goes to give solidity to the manufactured stone. The huge girders of the skyscrapers are daubed an ugly but efficient red underneath the surface coat of black. Perhaps the best example of the value of paint on steel is found in the venerable Brooklyn bridge, on which a gang of painters is kept going continually. It is scarce possible to think of a single manufactured article which does not meet paint somewhere in the course of its construction. So has paint grown into the very marrow of our lives.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Mr. Marion Holcomb, of Nancy, Ky., says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach all up. I found they were no good at all for my trouble. I heard

THEDFORD'S

Certain-teed

Roofing

Certain-teed renders a war service.

Certain-teed saves war supplies, because it is made of materials which have no use in war products. It serves war needs because it provides our armies, and peoples everywhere, with efficient, economical roofing.

Certain-teed saves war transportation, because it is so compact that it takes minimum car space, and so easy to handle that it requires the minimum time to load and unload.

Certain-teed saves war labor. It can be laid in less time than any other type of roof; and no skill is required—anyone who will follow the simple directions that come packed in the center of roll can lay it correctly.

The durability and economy of Certain-teed are recognized the world over, as proved by its enormous sale. It is now the standard roof for factories, office buildings, hotels, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings, etc.

Guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness. Sold by best dealers everywhere.

ROBERTS, HAROLD W. (1013943) Corporal,
Co. A., 344th Battalion, Tank Corps. (Deceased).

FOR conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action with the enemy in the Montrebeau Woods, France, Oct. 4, 1918.

Corporal Roberts, a tank driver, was moving his tank into a clump of bushes to afford protection to another tank which had been disabled. The tank slid into a shell hole, ten feet deep, filled with water, and was immediately submerged. Knowing that only one of the two men in the tank could escape, Corporal Roberts said to the gunner, "Well, only one us can get out, and out you go," whereupon he pushed his companion thru the back door of the tank and was himself drowned.
